Kiefer Home Is Top Winner For Lighting

GRAND PRIZE WINNER
The Home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiefer

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiefer on Dunbar Ave. has been announced as grand prize winner in the annual Christmas lighting contest sponsored by Bay-Waveland Garden Club.

A silver tree flanked by red and white candy-striped candles with bulbs on top and greens are in one large window of the Kiefer home. Another window on the same side of the home shows a display of lighted candles in holders and greens.

Other winners announced by Mrs. C. R. Beyer, contest chairman, are Hancock Bank for the best commercial display; Mrs. Juanita Ward, 125 State St., best window; Mrs. Geraldine Ames, N. Beach, best outdoor decoration; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Heitzman, 335 deMontluzin Ave., best doorway; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McGinty, 307 deMontluzin Ave., best rooftop; and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Whitfield, 624 N. Beach, best outdoor trees.

Especially amusing were the Santa Claus legs which can be seen protruding from the McGinty home chimney. A football and several other toys on the roof apparently were too much for Santa to carry down the chimney.

Candles, wreaths, many-colored bulbs and greens all contributed to the effectiveness of the other prize-winning decorations.

Honorable mention was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brignac, 920 S. Beach; Col. and Mrs. M. W. Glossinger, Waveland; Capt. and Mrs. Ivan J. Bradford, 201 Citizen St.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farve, Miss Veronica Mohr, 135 deMontluzin Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. Dan M. Russell Jr., 112 deMontluzin Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd J. Ladner, 808 Hancock; Mr. and Mrs. Leo G. Ford, 810 N. Beach; Mrs. Edmond Fahey Jr., 306 deMontluzin Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. ## Raids Bring Charges Against Operators Of County Line Bars

Raids by Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner and his deputies on three county line bars brought charges against operators of the establishments and the posting of bonds totaling $1,500. The officers confiscated a large amount of whisky and beer.

Hit by the officers were: The County Line Club, Shorty's Place and Prentiss Kennedy's Bar.

Operators of the bars were listed by the sheriff as being Eli Alsbrook of The County Line Club, Francis W. "Goat" Lee of Shorty's Place and Prentiss Kennedy.

Both Lee and Alsbrook were raided by Mississippi National Guardsmen recently after a protest petition filed to Gov. J. P. Coleman by residents of the area who charged in their petition that the bar operators were selling alcoholic beverages to minors.

The raids were led by the sheriff, Chief Deputies Carl Garcia and James Necaise and Deputies Leonard Ladner, Gerald Favre, Raul Telhard, Latham Garriga and J. B. Thigpen. Nine other officers assisted in the investigations.

Alsbrook was charged with illegal possession of whisky and selling beer without a state license and a county permit. He was released under $250 bond on each count. Trial has been set for Feb. 21 in the court of justice of the Peace T. W. Bronson. Confiscated at Alsbrook's place were 25 half pints of whisky, two pints of whisky and 138 cans of beer. Lee was released under $250 bond for selling beer without a state license and a county permit and will be tried by Justice Bronson Feb. 21.

Whisky and vodka were confiscated at Prentiss Kennedy's Bar and he was released under $250 bond for illegal possession and will be tried at the same time as Alsbrook and Lee.

Sunday night, Deputies Garcia and Thigpen raided Lee's place again and took 65 cans of beer and six bottles of whisky. Lee was released under an additional $500 bond.

Ray Broome, 25-year-old operator of Broome's Gulf Service Station on US-90, is reported to have been robbed of about $437 Monday night.

Broome called Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner about 10 p.m. and reported the robbery. He told the sheriff and Deputy Latham Garriga that as he was closing the station a tall man, dressed in a black overcoat and hat and wearing a black mask on his face, forced him to re-enter the station by pressing an object in his back. He said he was forced to lie face down on the floor of the station and surrender the money to the man.

Before the man left, he reported, he was warned not to make an outcry for five minutes or "he would be killed."

He described the man to the officers as being about six feet tall and weighing about 180 pounds. He said he was unable to hear a car either enter or leave the area of the station.

The sheriff reported the area was searched thoroughly for the robber and the case is being investigated by his office.

What Use for Old Cards?

The exchange of Christmas cards has become one of America's well established customs. Addressing cards to old friends and receiving greetings from them is one of the joys of the holiday season. Many times these beautifully composed and printed expressions of greeting represent the only contact between old friends each year. So it is a great opportunity to keep alive friendships developed during years past as well as to voice a cheery greeting to those with whom we have more frequent contacts.

But what happens to these cards at the end of the holiday season? Are they discarded with other scrap paper to find their way eventually to an incinerator or dump? Are they preserved carefully for reference next year to be sure we don't miss anyone who should be on the list? Or do they find their way into some dark and musty corner where they will lie undisturbed for many years in the belief that someday we will want to refer to them for some vague reason?

Surely, there must be organizations that need and want these cards, minus their personal messages of course. Perhaps it would be church groups conducting missions in foreign lands. Maybe hospitals with various therapy programs. It seems unnecessarily wasteful to discard them without trying to locate someone who might have a use for them.

Do you know of such an organization or individual?

See the Listener

Alexander Graham Bell, it's safe to say, would find it impossible to believe what his great invention — the telephone — is on the verge of doing. Here's what President Donald C. Power of the General Telephone Co. has to say.

"The broad market for telephone products and services will make it possible for the telephone subscriber of the future to control the lights and heat within his own home from any distant point merely by dialing predetermined digits. The telephone instrument of the future will consist of communication outlets located in every room in the house, and in many instances provided as built-in facilities, as contrasted with the present-day instrument. In response to the doorbell signal, you will be able to establish two-way communication with the caller from any location in your home. The possibility of seeing the image of the individual with whom you are speaking, through the development of phone-a-vision, lies in the near future.

"When desired, you will obtain news summaries, weather reports and market results for all types of markets (industrial, agricultural, etc.) The future development of special services will permit the dialing of children's stories and to have them carried over a separate speaker located in the nursery. These are the things that are our objectives for future telephone service."

VIVE BENSON!

There was a decided improvement in agriculture during the year 1958. As is the case in all types of competitive business enterprises, some farmers experienced financial difficulties in '58, but this condition was far from representative of commercial farmers generally. The move toward a freer agriculture is having beneficial results, Vive Benson.

Farmers' cash receipts from markets are estimated at $33 billion for 1958. This is 11 per cent above 1957 and comes close to the all-time peak of 1951. Adding to this, government payments estimated at $1.1 billion, the farmers' total cash receipts reached a record high of around $34 billion.

Even more important, the farmers' net income for 1958 is officially estimated at about $13 billion — 20 per cent above 1957, and per capita income of the farm population from all sources is currently running at the highest level on record, Vive Benson.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has come out of the December advance even some members of his own party had hoped to see him. Farmers are beginning to realize that average income will not keep crop production down to 1957 as price supports encourage growers to over-produce their commodities. The prospects are that 1959 will be a year of freedom and freedom for the farmer. Benson has his way, Vive Benson.

February Parade Will Honor State

Beginning this year the Krewes of Posedon domiciled in Westwego, La., will hold their annual parades in honor of one of the states.

The carnival parade to be presented Feb. 8 will be in honor of Mississippi. A blanket invitation has been extended to all residents of the Magnolia State, its public officials, National Guard, civic and patriotic organizations, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, colleges and high school bands. The parade is scheduled to assemble at Gretna High School at 1 p.m. and move over a decorated route where thousands will assemble to view the colorful spectacle. Eleven floats will make up part of the parade. Gretna is just across the river from New Orleans and can be reached by ferry or the Mississippi Bridge.

If men would consider not so much wherein they differ as wherein they agree, there would be far less of uncharitableness and angry feeling in the world. —Joseph Addison

Selecting Proper Form Is First Step in Filing Income Tax Return

This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Mississippi Society of Certified Public Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.

If you are one of the millions of American taxpayers who spends the lion's share of his income feeding, clothing, housing and entertaining his family, chances are there is very little you can do to reduce your 1958 federal income tax bill — but you owe it to yourself to try.

First of all, decide which of the two individual tax forms you are going to use to report your income. If you choose the wrong one, you may automatically cut yourself off from a possible tax savings.

The easiest way to file is to use the simple 1040-A Form. It's a card the size of a check, on which you answer a few simple questions and have the choice of either computing your own tax or letting the government do it for you.

You are permitted to use the card form if your gross income consisted only of wages, dividends or interest totaling less than $10,000, and if you did not have more than $200 of gross income apart from that listed on your W-2 withholding slips.

Before deciding to use the card Form 1040-A, you should consider these facts:

1 - Your tax will be figured from a table which allows you a deduction of about 10 per cent of your income instead of itemized deductions for contributions, taxes, interest paid, medical and dental expenses, etc.

2 - There is no provision in this form for filing as the "head of household," or for claiming special credits for dividends and retirement income.

If you are sure that these two points would not cost you any tax savings, and your income is within the limits for filing a Form 1040-A, you might as well use this simple card form.

When you elect to use the regular Form 1040, you still must decide whether to itemize deductions or take the standard deductions which usually amounts to about 10 per cent of your income or $1,000, whichever is less. Generally, you will save by itemizing deductions if you:

- 1 - Own real estate.
- 2 - Had unusual medical expenses.
- 3 - Had deductible child-care expense.
- 4 - Suffered losses from fire, storm, accident or theft.
- 5 - Made fairly large charitable contributions.

If you are supporting a dependent, although you are unmarried, you may be able to qualify as a "head of household" and figure your tax on a special table that gives you part of the advantage enjoyed by married couples filing joint returns.

You may qualify for a "head of household" status if you provide more than half the support of a parent and more than half of cost of maintaining the parent's household even if the parent does not live with you. You cannot claim a "head of household" status if you file a Form 1040-A.

The 1040 Form is arranged again this year so that a taxpayer whose income was entirely from wages needs to use only the first one or two pages. Pages three and four are for other types of income and for computing the special credits for dividends and retirement income.

The instructions which come with your tax forms give further information on how to select the correct tax form. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service.

Peace and Prosperity

It is the custom in the Season of Seasons to remember our friends and count our blessings.

It is the time of the year when home and loved ones are foremost in our thoughts and when the hearts of little children leap with expectations as they live in a land of make-believe and dream. We have much for which to be thankful here on the Mississippi Coast. It has been a year of peace and prosperity and the New Year comes over the horizon full of promise. Surely this should be a holiday of happy hearthstones and good fellowship.

As we list our assets we are grateful for the good will of those who make the business of banking pleasant and profitable. There is a lot of intangible wealth that enriches lives that cannot be put in any financial statement.

We are thankful for your thoughtfulness, your patience and your countless courtesies. Your bank's officers, directors and employees are deeply indebted for the confidence you have placed in them and the cooperation you have given that has contributed so much to the building of your bank.

May we gather mutual strength in an association that has meant much to the financial stability and development of this progressive community, and may we work together for the advancement of this thriving Gulf Coast country.

So to you and yours, all of us at the Hancock Bank extend our warmest greetings and best wishes for an abundance of all the good things of life. May the New Year bring you peace and prosperity, and through all the years to come, may you and yours have a full measure of Wealth, Health and Happiness.

Precautions by Mothers Help Prevent Birth Defects

Second of three articles on birth defects, the leading childhood health problem, by Dr. Thomas M. Rivers, medical vice president of the National Foundation, noted pediatrician and dean of American virologists.

By THOMAS M. RIVERS

The causes of birth defects are largely unknown. But one fact already has been firmly established by medical science:

The belief that all congenital malformations are hereditary is untrue. This idea, with its implication of parental taint and guilt, needs urgently to be dispelled.

Some birth defects can be prevented by precautions taken before and during the mother's pregnancy. Others can be remedied by modern surgery and the new science of rehabilitation. Still others, physicians believe, may be controlled within the foreseeable future as a result of such research projects as are now being financed with March of Dimes funds by the National Foundation (originally the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis).

Birth defects result from two basic causes. Some of them, it is true, stem from heredity, determined by the genes. These indeed pose a difficult problem in prevention — though medical science may, in the not too distant future, have much more to say about this matter which touches on the mystery of human life.

The second main group of birth defects lend themselves more readily to control. These are the defects caused by so-called "environmental conditions" — i.e., factors that are not hereditary but act upon the mother while the unborn child is being formed. They include mishaps, injuries and infections that are often preventable.

Foremost among these are certain virus infections. We know, for instance, that the virus of German measles, if it attacks a mother during the first three months of pregnancy, may cause a defective child. A heretofore unknown group of viruses only recently discovered by National Foundation research grantees may have similar effects.

Deficiencies in diet and nutrition are another "environmental" cause. A lack of proteins or certain essential vitamins in the mother sometimes leads to malformations in the growing embryo. Because of the widespread use of iodized salt in this country we rarely nowadays see infant malformations resulting from the mother's iodine deficiency. But in some areas of the world where this precaution is not yet applied, cretinous babies are not uncommon.

Here are still other agents acting on the mother that may induce birth defects:

Radiation from x-ray or other sources. Injuries from x-ray treatment may occur particularly in the first weeks of embryo life when the mother may not know that she is bearing a child.

Drugs and chemicals. Large doses of narcotics, alcohol and certain powerful chemicals or drugs may harm the unborn child. Hypoxia, or oxygen deficiency in the mother's tissues. The mother may suffer from this lack while under anesthesia during an operation or during exposure to altitudes sufficiently high to cause shortage of breath. Even a temporary reduction of normal oxygen flow to the body may leave its mark upon the embryo.

Accidents, such as falls or injury and shock from auto collisions. Harm to the placenta (the system that provides food to the growing embryo) can produce serious kinds of infant malformation.

Precautions against such harmful environmental factors should be taken especially during the first eight to 10 weeks after conception. For it is during this period, when the fertilized egg grows with enormous speed, that embryonic life is most vulnerable to damage.

Everyone has seen a bud blighted by disease or marred by insect ravage. When the bud unfolds, the flower is imperfect. The human bud, burgeoning within the shelter of the mother's frame, is even more delicate and complex. It too can be marred by what physicians call a "shock" or "insult" in those early days when it is first taking on the contours and lineaments of a human being.

In the first three weeks of embryonic life the rudiments of the spine take shape and the head begins to form. This is the time when "insult" may cause a malformed skull or open vertebrae. In the fifth and sixth weeks the eye lenses emerge and the face appears. This is the time when insult may cause blindness or harelip. In the seventh and eighth weeks the embryo, still less than two inches long, is growing a heart and lungs. This is the time when an insult may cause heart disease or other internal malformations. By the 10th week the infant is almost completely formed in miniature.

It is not uncommon to find a mother who feels that, having once had a malformed child, she should bear no other children. This fear is often unfounded. In many instances, by avoiding or remedying conditions responsible for the original malformation, she can subsequently produce healthy and normal offspring.

As soon as feasible, the National Foundation will offer patient aid for children through age 18 with three specific kinds of birth defects involving the central nervous system: spina bifida, or open spine; encephalocele, or open skull; hydrocephalus, excess water in the cavities of the brain.

Finally, here are six simple precautions that every prospective mother can take especially during the crucial first three months of pregnancy:

1 - Avoid exposure to German measles.

Daughter, Angela Jean, to Mr. and Mrs. Lyon Dale Danforth, Dec. 23, in Hancock County Hospital.

Daughter, Mary Ellen, to Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ladner, Dec. 30, in Hancock County Hospital. Mrs. Ladner is the former Janet Dorn.

2 - Develop good "maternal soil" by a diet rich in proteins, vitamins and minerals — a precaution that should start in adolescence.

3 - Postpone operations under anesthesia till after childbirth, if possible. At any rate, discuss the problem thoroughly with your physician.

4 - Avoid extensive x-ray treatment.

5 - Shun powerful drugs, medications and narcotics.

6 - Do not make abrupt changes to high altitudes.

Besides birth defects, other areas of March of Dimes activity are polio, arthritis and virus diseases.

Employment Rises

A substantial and encouraging gain in Mississippi's industrial employment advanced the state from 32nd place nationally in 1950 to 32nd place in 1957. Mississippi's industrial employment rose from 64,510, eight years ago to 106,357 in 1957. Equally encouraging is the fact that manufacturing employment has been making gains in higher-paying categories.

Wedding

GEX-GOULD

The marriage of Miss Nancy Hamilton Gould of Cleveland, Tenn., to Lucien Marion Gex Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Gex of Bay St. Louis, was celebrated in the Church of the Resurrection at Cleveland, Nov. 29.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Syd S. Gould of Cleveland.

The Rev Paul Hostettler officiated at the ceremony. The altar was decorated simply, with triangular arrangements flanking the gold cross of white beauty gladioli, white chrysanthemums and lighted tapers.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of white satin, featuring an imported Val lace front panel and bracelet length sleeves, the skirt billowing into a court train. Her veil of illusion cascaded from a white pearl tiara, and she wore a single strand of pearls. She carried an original designed bridal bouquet of white chiffon leaves centered with seed pearls and stylized leaves, this forming the background for white hybrid orchids as the focal point of a line design of white phanoplosis orchids, all centered with white illusion.

Miss Marcia Musgrave of Excelsior, Mo., served as the bride's maid of honor and the Misses Patricia Sullivan and Judith Marler were bridesmaids. They wore dresses of deep rose jewel-toned velvet inset with matching satin to form a bell-shaped skirt, with rose velvet half hats. They carried garlands of English ivy, forming a cascade bouquet, centered with a white hybrid orchid.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Groomsmen were Gerald Calhoun Gex, of Bay St. Louis, brother of the bridegroom, and Charles Dunbar 111 of New Orleans.

Mrs. Gould, mother of the bride, chose an empire sheath of copper satin and chiffon, with matching hat. Her corsage was cymbidium orchids in brown tone.

Mrs. Gex wore a taupe wool sheath, trimmed in beaded lace with accessories to match. Her flowers were charruuse cymbidium orchids.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gould entertained at a reception in the Cleveland Golf and Country Club. Assisting in serving were the Misses Katie Jo Stickley and Clyde Ellen Davis.

The scene of the reception was decorated in traditional white and green, using as a background large white chrysanthemums attached to white satin roping suspended from the ceiling. This was garlanded together with white and green pines, creating a background for the bride's table on which a tiered wedding cake was flanked on either side with tall silver candelabra and holding burning tapers. The punch and buffet tables were garlanded with strands of ivy and white grapes with clusters of chrysanthemums.

The bride's going-away costume was a wool suit of royal blue with white ermine ascot and muff. Her corsage was white orchids, designed of stylized leaves of royal blue and worn on the muff.

After a southern wedding trip, the couple is at home at 5602 Pitt St., New Orleans.

Out-of-town guests included the Misses Gertrude Calhoun, Hollis Thompson and Joan Sullivan of New Orleans and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bell of Biloxi.

Legion Auxiliary Juniors Have Party

A visit from Santa Claus was the highlight of the American Legion Auxiliary junior Christmas party. Games were played and gifts exchanged by the 47 junior members.

A table decorated in the Christmas motif held the party refreshments.

Members assisting with the refreshments were Mrs. A. J. Pitale Jr., Mrs. Erwin Neacise, Mrs. Gilbert Gayaut, Mrs. Rogers Reinike, Mrs. Robert Givens, Mrs. Warren Buehler, Miss "Dick" Turcotte, Mrs. Roland Lafontaine and Mrs. J. F. Green.

MRS. LUCIEN MARION GEX JR.
The former Nancy Hamilton Gould

Wedding
Gex-Gould

The marriage of Miss Nancy Hamilton Gould of Cleveland, Tenn., to Lucien Marion Gex Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Gex of Bay St. Louis, was solemnized in the Church of the Resurrection at Cleveland, Nov. 29.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Syd S. Gould of Cleveland.

The Rev Paul Hostettler officiated at the ceremony. The altar was decorated simply, with triangular arrangements flanking the gold cross of white beauty gladioli, white chrysanthemums and lighted tapers.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of white satin, featuring an imported Val lace front panel and bracelet length sleeves, the skirt billowing into a court train. Her veil of illusion cascaded from a white pearl tiara, and she wore a single strand of pearls. She carried an original designed bridal bouquet of white chifon leaves covered with seed pearls and stylized leaves, this forming the background for white hybrid orchids as the focal point of a line design of white phanapolis orchids, all centered with white illusion.

Miss Marcia Musgrave of Excelsior, Mo., served as the bride's maid of honor and the Misses Patricia Sullivan and Judith Marler were bridesmaids. They wore dresses of deep rose jewel-toned velvet inset with matching satin to form a bell-shaped skirt, with rose velvet half hats. They carried garlands of English ivy, forming a cascade bouquet, centered with a white hybrid orchid.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Groomsmen were Gerald Calhoun Gex, of Bay St. Louis, brother of the bridegroom, and Charles Dunbar III of New Orleans.

Mrs. Gould, mother of the bride, chose an empire sheath of copper satin and chifon, with matching hat. Her corsage was cymbidium orchids in brown tone.

Mrs. Gex wore a taupe wool sheath, trimmed in beaded lace with accessories to match. Her flowers were chartreuse cymbidium orchids.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gould entertained at a reception in the Cleveland Golf and Country Club. Assisting in serving were the Misses Katie Jo Stickley and Clyde Ellen Davis.

The scene of the reception was decorated in traditional white and green, using as a background large white chrysanthemums attached to white satin roping suspended from the ceiling. This was garlanded together with white and green pines, creating a background for the bride's table on which a tiered wedding cake was flanked on either side with tall silver candelabra and holding burning tapers. The punch and buffet tables were garlanded with strands of ivy and white grapes with clusters of chrysanthemums.

The bride's going-away costume was a wool suit of royal blue with white ermine ascot and muff. Her corsage was white orchids, designed of stylized leaves of royal blue and worn on the muff.

After a southern wedding trip, the couple is at home at 5602 Pitt St., New Orleans.

Out-of-town guests included the Misses Gertrude Calhoun, Hollis Thompson and Joan Sullivan of New Orleans and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bell of Biloxi.
